AIM Announcement

25 May 2007

Director Resignation

The Company advises that Mr David Jelley has resigned (for personal reasons) as a Director and Operations Manager of Solomon Gold plc.

Since operations were re-commenced in Solomon Islands in October 2005, Mr Jelley has been instrumental in establishing what is now the largest exploration operation in Solomon Islands. A highly experienced senior management team has been in place for some time covering all aspects of the Company's exploration activities, and this team will continue to manage these activities.

The Company's exploration, logistics, local liaison and administration functions are all being managed in accordance with the established practices for Solomon Gold field operations and have been adjusted to deal with the departure of the Operations Manager.

The directors wish to express their thanks to Mr Jelley for his efforts in establishing the operations in Solomon Islands and wish him well in his future endeavours.
